

The acceptance of Prayer (Chapter 2: Verse 186)

By: Ramin Vassighi

The verse 186 of Sura Al Baqara mentions that when we call upon God, He is near and responds to us. It emphasizes the importance of faith and responding to Him in return, which involves patience and trust. Sometimes, answers may come in unexpected ways or at a different time. It encourages maintaining hope and continuing to pray.

The verse highlights that God is always near and listens to our prayers. However, our prayers might not be answered in the way or time we expect. It's about trusting His wisdom and understanding that He knows what is best for us, even if we might not see it immediately. It also encourages us to remain steadfast and patient in our faith.

There are often mentioned conditions for prayers to be answered: sincerity and faith in God, patience and perseverance, and ensuring that one's actions align with what is morally right. These conditions help create a strong foundation for prayer.
